So I have an array of times like this: Times: 0: 18 1: 17 2: 19 3: 13 4: 15 The times are for an event. 18 happened twice, and 13 happened once, so the score for 18 on this event is 2 points and 13 gets zero points. The event can have multiple occurrences. I want to get the highest-value event. In this case, it would be 18, however the next time could be a score of 5 for an event, so I don't want to get that, I just want the highest-score event. For now, I have some code that looks like this: public void getHighestScoreEvent(int[] times) { List scores = new List(); for (int time = 0; time < times.Length; time++) { int score = times[time]; if (score > max_score) { max_score = score; } } return max_score; } How can I adapt this so I get the highest-score event? A: This could be done by using LINQ to achieve this
